

The day I played for Scotland

Since I was a little boy My dream was always been to play for Scotland. I've always loved football and I've watched every single match played by Scotland since I was 3 years old. Now I'm 18 and am playing for Scotland I've been practicing for ages. Now it's the big day my first match ever. 55 words

After years of training the day has finally here. I sat in the changing room my heart pounding, as me and my team got ready to walk onto the pitch with one last swing of water. 36

As I walked onto the pitch my heart began to race. It was a huge match England vs Scotland. I was terrified but also excited. I had goose bumps. I could hear fans chanting and yelling as well. 41

Suddenly all my hopes and dreams were shattered. We had conceded there was booing and cheering and the whole stadium erupted. My team were all looking so glum. Would we have a comeback or not? 36

Half way through there was an equaliser. McTominay scored the goal smashed top right corner. Later on another goal for Scotland this time Robertson bottom left corner. 29

As I lifted the cup there was so much cheering and the whole stadium was buzzing and we'd won the cup I was the happiest

I've ever been in my life. I went back home over the moon that night.
